Code SKC101: 2 Days 1 Night the UNESCO World Heritage Site: Sukhothai and Si Satchanalai

Sukhothai is 427 km north of Bangkok. The Sukhothai Kingdom was Thailand's first unified state founded in 1238. The site of Sukhothai and Associated Towns was inscribed onto the World Heritage List in 1991 and is one of Thailand's five World Heritage sites. The great civilization which evolved in the Kingdom of Sukhothai absorbed numerous influences and ancient local traditions; the rapid assimilation of all these elements forged what is known as the 'Sukhothai style'.

Si Satchanalai Traditional gold is highly prized and uniqueness. Local Thai craftsmen have created striking designs using the Si Satchanalai gold technique, with an emphasis on novelty combined with ancient artistic patterns. Si Satchanalai, or Sawankhalok, was an important producer of Sangkhalok wares (Earthenware) which were exported throughout Asian countries.
